GCLID, short for Google Click Identifier, is a unique and highly encrypted tracking parameter that Google uses internally to transfer information between your Google Ads account and your Google Analytics account. As you know, GCLID is not directly available in Google Ads, so it isn't possible to associate GCLID data with the users/campaign/location in Google Ads.

✨ AI-POWERED INSIGHTS JUST FOR YOU

✓ Things are going well

Business is thriving in campaigns like Cyber_Monday_Offers, Valentines_Day_Sale, and Spring_Launch_Promo with the mediums blog_promotion, ppc_ad, and newsletter providing substantial returns. Products like kitchen_appliances, luxury_watches, and winter_coats got high traction.

🔔 Things can be improved

The campaigns like New_Year_Discounts, Back_to_School_Bargains have a low response rate. The seo and cpc mediums are not working effectively. Items like running_shoes, fashion_accessories, and sports_outfit have fewer opt-ins.

★ Action items

Increase newsletters and blog promotion activities for increased opt-in numbers. Utilize ppc_advertisement more to boost the product popularity for products that are lagging behind. Re-consider promotions strategies for New_Year_Discounts, and Back_to_School_Bargains campaigns.

📋 Other important observations

More opt-ins during sale events like Cyber Monday and Valentines Day. The platform google has shown to have the highest opt-ins so promoting the business more on Google might increase lead generation. Organic traffic has given a significant number of leads, so improving seo will provide better results.
